Vocational Service Month

The term “vocational” comes from the root word “vocation” which is derived from the Latin ‘vocatio’ which refers to a ‘calling’. However, the terms ‘vocational’ and ‘vocation’ are better understood when compared to the words ‘professional’ and ‘profession.’

A profession is something one does to earn a living. Thus, we have ‘professional athletes’ and ‘professional writers.’ Contrast this with ‘amateurs’ who are into sports or literature for enjoyment. Since professionals use their skills for their livelihood, they have to attain a higher level of expertise than others. However, a professional still falls short of those who embrace a ‘vocation’; who are into something because it is what gives their life meaning. So we have priests who have a ‘religious vocation’, and physicians with a ‘healing’ vocation. St. Paul, after his conversion, made preaching God’s word his ‘vocation.’ At the same time, he was a ‘professional tent-maker.’ Paul Newman, the Oscar-winning actor, has acting as a vocation. In his 1950’s movie, ‘The Hustler’, he realistically portrayed ‘Fast Eddie’ an expert pool player. When ‘Fast Eddie’ girlfriend, a writer, wondered why he devoted his life to just ‘pool-shooting’, he replied defensively, “even brick-laying can be elevated to an art form, if one puts his heart and soul into it.” Well said, as all ‘true art’ is a vocation.

On the other hand, ‘vocational’ is often understood as something less than ‘professional’. A professional is usually someone who went through at least four years of college before hurdling a professional regulatory exam. A vocational course is much shorter and there is no need to pass an exam in order to work. Thus, an architect and an electrical engineer are professionals whereas carpenters and electricians underwent vocational courses. With that clarification made, it must be stated that Rotary recognizes the dignity of all useful and honest occupations.

The English language can be tricky but Rotary covers all bases when it refers to “Vocational Service”. In our club, under ‘Vocational Service’ we do Career Guidance and Placement Seminars to help high school and college graduates choose their vocation or profession. We hold ‘Job and Trade Fairs’ for the unemployed. We have the ‘Rotary PDG Rudy Nisce Foundation’ providing college scholarships while many of our members sponsor Vocational scholars. We continually hold Livelihood and Training Courses ranging from candle-making to care-giving. We give out awards to recognize and encourage deserving workers and professionals. Lastly we promote the ‘4-Way Test’ which was first proposed by RI President Herbert Taylor as a guide for ‘dealings’ in the workplace and business world.

In 1905, a lawyer named Paul, this time Harris, formed a club with four friends for purposes of Fellowship. Because of this, it is said that Club Service, which encompasses Fellowship, takes precedence over the other ‘Avenues of Service.’ Note, however, that Paul Harris did not band together with fellow lawyers but with a tailor, a coal merchant and a mining engineer. Even then he was thinking of an organization composed of members of different occupations to act as ‘pillars’ of the community. Today’s Vocational Classification system continues this early Rotary tradition of bringing people of different expertise for purposes of service. In a sense, service and ‘community’ building is the real ‘vocation’ of all true Rotarians.

Lawyers are no angels – Part II

•And God said “Let there be Satan so people do not blame everything on me. And let there be lawyers so people do not blame everything on Satan”

♦After starting her own business, an investment counselor found out that her business was going so well that she needed to get in-house counsel. So she began interviewing young lawyers. “In this business,” she stated to one applicant, “our personal integrity must be beyond question. Do you consider yourself an honest lawyer, Mr. Yabes?” “I certainly do!” replied the lawyer. “I am as honest that after my father loaned me one million pesos for my education, I paid back every peso after my first case.” The impressed investment counselor asked, “What was your first case?” The young lawyer answered, “my dad sued me for the loan.”---contributed by VP Rey Nisce

♦A man accidentally bumped a pedestrian with his car. He rushed the victim to a hospital. The doctor on duty examined the victim and said that he was all right. “Are you sure that he is not hurt doctor?” The worried driver asked. The doctor answered, “If you want to find out if he is really hurt, I think you should ask his lawyer..”---contributed b PP Jerome Gaerlan

TIPS

(Tidbits, Information & Practical Suggestions)

Goodness Over Dishonesty

Today, I will choose; goodness over dishonesty.

I will go without a peso before I take one dishonestly. I will be overlooked before I boast. I will confess before I accuse. I choose goodness.

The money I lose now, I can gain later. Character is what I keep forever.

God is faithful, He has never let me down and He never will

But character that is destroyed and a reputation damaged will affect my life and the future of my family. So forget the dishonest peso and take care of your character.

I will be careful to return company properties.

I will not be on my expense account.

I will not shortchange my customers nor take advantage over my supplies.

I will not betray the trust of my spouse as I try to be a model parent to my children.

It's strange that officemates talk about the future, businessmen speculate about the future, and friends plan for the future.

Yet every time I look at my children, I see the future.

President Rex Mendoza calls the meeting to order. It could have been just the usual Tuesday gathering, but it wasn't. The Dream Team was in high spirits as they animated this week's regular meeting with Rtn. Frederick So as Day Chairman & Master of Ceremonies. It was encouraging to see our new Rtn. (or Rev?) Wynie Manansala giving a solemn opening prayer & the Four-Way Test. "Dreamer Boy" PP Kit Purganan gave the welcome greetings.

Towering with their spirits high, the Dream Team started to infect all those who were present when they led the Club Singing to the tune of "Roll on Rotarian"! And we went higher as Rtn. Dave Parkman facilitated the Friendship Session. It was entertaining and uplifting as well.

Since the month of October is Vocational Service Month our young and dashing President Rex once again asked and encouraged every Rotarians to take part in the different activities and projects initiated by our Club during this whole month. He is counting on each one of us! Why? Because together we can realize this year's theme of sowing more and more "seeds of love."

The club was very fortunate to have PP John Paul Cadaing from Rotary Club of Midtown Tarlac and the District Chairman for Recreation & Fellowship as our Guest of Honor & Speaker. He reminded as the true essence of being and becoming a Rotarian. In his words, he acknowledged the many men who have already set the example and are worthy following. They are PDG Ces, PP Cres, PP Aldy to name a few. They have paved the way towards the ideals of noble Rotarianism. That it isn't enough to invest just your time and money but every act of service should be done in the name of love.

And this is SERVICE ABOVE SELF! They believed in Sowing the Seeds of Love!

As President Rex adjourned the meeting, every Rotarian present; knew in his heart that whatever we dream and aspire for is not far from reality if we become true Rotarians.

PRESIDENTS' CORNER President Rex O. Mendoza, Jr.

Prex

To the District Chairman of Vocational Service, PP Mely Alfonso, welcome to our Club and may your visit inspire us to work more and be proud more of our chosen profession.

The past week has been very tough on the attendance of Rotarians in different Club projects. The series of club projects brought a very low percentage of participation of Rotarians in some activities. Is it because a lot activities have been scheduled? Or maybe wrong timing or scheduling? Or poor information dissemination? Or failure to sustain the interest of the members? Whatever would be the reason, we just hope that you Rotarians can share with us ideas and projects that will inspire more to join us in the community work. Be with us during our Fellowship night on November 4, Tuesday at PP Arsing Ignacio's residence at 7:00 PM. Let sit down, talk and share.

The past week has also been very tough on health, both for Rotarians and non-Rotarians alike. One after the other, we got sick. Time and money loss were significant not to consider the stresses that it brings to our family and the pain to our physical body. My dear Rotarians, please consider giving more attention to your selves while we can still do something.

To our members and friends who are sick at the moment always remember that you are with us in prayers.

To the family of PP Cres Fernandez and Ann Lina, our Condolences. May your mother, Luisa Fernandez rest in peace!
